Human rights activist Reggie Littlejohn described the World Health Organization (WHO) as akin to a "militarized arm" of the United Nations and the globalists that control it.

"The WHO is almost like a militarized arm of the UN and the globalists," she told the Medical Rebel Dr. Lee Merritt on the July 12 episode of the "Merritt Medical Hour" on Brighteon.TV. "They have chosen the WHO because of all the data that has been collected in connection with people's health, because you can terrify people on the subject of health."

Littlejohn, the founder and president of Women's Rights Without Frontiers (WRWF), said various studies have shown that people are willing to give up freedoms they'd hold on to in any other circumstance if they fear for their life or health. One example of this is the Wuhan coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic, which has terrified so many people that health authorities were able to push the COVID-19 vaccine.

She added that the WHO has been heavily backed by entities who are in a position to profit from vaccines. Such groups include the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation and Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance.

"You have this organization that is trying to get totalitarian powers through the International Health Regulations (IHR) amendment and the new pandemic treaty; is heavily sponsored by people who would benefit greatly from vaccine; and [is] telling you the only solution to this is a vaccine," Littlejohn said.

The WRWF founder and president commented that the pandemic became a pretext to issue vaccine passports, smart health cards and digital health IDs to people. Littlejohn warned that when these things are in place, they will become instruments of surveillance and control.

WHO to utilize pandemic treaty for MEDICAL MARTIAL LAW

Merritt agreed with her guest, saying that the global health body isn't doing it by itself. She cited a book titled "Silent Weapons for Quiet Wars" that discussed the global elites' plans following the Bilderberg Group meeting in 1954. The book mentions conducting benevolent slavery or genocide in order to control humanity.

In response to Merritt's question about the WHO's motive, Littlejohn said it has to do with totalitarian control orchestrated by the "people at the top."

"I don't think we know who those people are. I think that the people who are the faces that we see are probably not at the top, are more like puppets of the people at the top, but I think they're megalomaniacs. I think that they want to control the world, just like megalomaniacs have throughout history, but they have never had the technology to actually effectuate it."

The WRWF founder and president remarked that this group is now using the WHO to put this plan in place by amending the IHR.

"Right now, the WHO is just an advisory body, and it sees what is going on health-wise in the world. It makes suggestions and the countries are free to follow it or not follow it. What they want with these international health regulations amendment will turn it from an advisory body into a regulatory body with powers of enforcement," Littlejohn explained. "They want to make their decisions to be legally binding on nations so that we will not be able to decide how we are going to handle a health situation. They will decide how we handle a health situation up to the point of even telling doctors what they cannot, can and cannot prescribe, and they also want the right to force vaccinations to destroy our personal medical freedom."
